

Management of the Acutely Ill Medical-Surgical Patient
Improving Patient Outcomes Through Evidence-based Care

Tuesday

February 28, 2017

9 a.m. - 4:20 p.m.

Wingate Hotel
4182 Sycamore Dairy Rd.
Fayetteville, NC 28303

In affiliation with Duke University Medical Center
Part of the NC AHEC Program

Target Audience

Medical-Surgical nurses and all others who may be interested in these topics.

Program Description

The purpose of this seminar is to provide healthcare professionals, particularly medical-surgical nurses with best practice strategies for care of patients with complex disease processes. Commonly encountered disorders that pose a challenge for the medical-surgical nurse will be examined from the perspective of prevention, early recognition, interpretation of abnormal assessment findings, and management. Specific content includes selected disorders from neurological, cardiovascular, respiratory and gastrointestinal systems with a featured topic of shock, sepsis and MODS. Additionally, legal implications associated with the care of the acutely ill medical-surgical patient will be addressed.

Attendee participation will be facilitated through-provoking case studies based on actual situations. This seminar is an absolute must for healthcare professionals who are committed to improving patient outcomes by providing Quality Evidence-based Care.

Outcome

Participants will increase their knowledge and expertise regarding care of patients with complex illnesses.
