(Monday) 7:45 a.m. - 5 p.m.
(Tuesday) 8 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Location:

Southern Regional AHEC
1601 Owen Drive, Classrooms A & B
Fayetteville, NC 28304

Target Audience

Trauma Nurses/Coordinators, Trauma Registrars, physicians, hospital information management personnel, and researchers or engineers who are responsible for injury databases. Participants should have general knowledge of anatomy.

Program Description

The Abbreviated Injury Scale (AIS©) incorporates current medical terminology providing an internationally accepted tool for ranking injury severity. The AIS© 2005 Update 2008, represents a five-year revision process involving hundreds of contributors in the USA, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and numerous European countries. The AIS© 2005 Update 2008 is significant in its total restructuring of injury classifications for both upper and lower extremities, and the pelvis, body regions that are significant in nonfatal long-term impairment and disability.

The course, which includes a total of 14 hours of classroom work, is divided into lectures and work sessions in which actual hospital charts are used for coding exercises. The course does not teach how to use the ICD. It is designed for those relatively new to AIS coding.

Pre-Requisites/Recommended Knowledge Base

1. 3-6 months of experience in working with a trauma or coding registry.
2. Basic anatomy course or equivalency.
3. Basic medical terminology course or equivalency

Objectives

- Understand the structure, organization and contents of the Abbreviated Injury Scale
- Abstract injury data from medical charts
- Rule out information that is not codeable
- Distinguish between injuries and outcomes
- Apply injury coding rules and guidelines specific to each body region
- Apply rules for calculating the Injury Severity Score (ISS) for multiple body region injuries
