Southern Regional AHEC Health Careers

Through the Model State Supported Grant, Southern Regional AHEC (SR-AHEC) provides programs designed to prepare 8th -12th grade and undergraduate students for careers in the health field. With an emphasis on students who are historically underrepresented (minorities, economically and/or educationally disadvantaged, etc.), it is the goal of the NC AHEC program to improve the distribution and retention of health care professionals in the state.

Program Description

Teaching Excellence for A Career in Health (TEACH) is a nine-month pre-professional health enrichment program for high school students in grades 8 through 12. The ultimate goal of TEACH is to serve as an integral component in the North Carolina health education pipeline and to make a significant impact on the number of underrepresented students entering health fields in the region.

- Be enrolled in grades 8 through 12;
- Maintain at least a 3.0 GPA;
- Receive a referral from an academic teacher or guidance counselor; and have an interest in learning more about health careers.

- Health science education workshops consisting of lectures emphasizing human anatomy and physiology, information on diseases that affect minority populations, disease treatment and behavior modifications for disease prevention, and hands-on instructions for monitoring body vital signs;
- Health awareness and professional development seminars featuring health career speakers emphasizing awareness of multiculturalism, health disparities, professional health careers, and education programs, and the financial aid and admissions application process to facilitate entry into college;
